

My girlfriend and I are both stationed in San Diego. I have taken her to every restaurant I can think of that fits my budget, and have exhausted my dating creativity. What are some “new” dating ideas in the San Diego area that work within my budget?

“When I first called MCCS One Source I explained my situation to the operator, who then transferred me to a consultant. The first thing the consultant did was introduce himself and ensured my privacy. He then asked me to explain my situation to him a little more in depth. I really felt like he understood where I was coming from. After chatting for a few minutes he said he had an idea of what I was looking for and told me he would give me a call in a couple of days with some of his research findings. I couldn’t believe it; it’s that easy! He also gave me his direct phone extension just incase I had any further questions. This service is awesome! I like the fact that I spoke to a real person, as opposed to dealing with an automated system.

The information provided was exactly what I was looking for. There is a list of websites that Matt gave me with fifty fun and free things to do in San Diego. I was looking at that site for at least an hour. This service is great. If I compiled this information it would have taken me a day or two. I have so many other things to do besides research. I really appreciate this service. Plus it’s free! I now have these new ideas, and my girlfriend will think I’m the greatest.”
